

WebFOCUS Practitioner and Certification Programs

Kristin Devlin
Executive Director of Customer Education
Information Builders

Leverage your investment in today's fastest growing business intelligence (BI) solution and accelerate your climb to the top. Information Builders offers two programs that combine hands-on education and qualified testing procedures to ensure that users achieve the highest levels of proficiency in WebFOCUS.

Practitioner Program

Acquire a comprehensive set of WebFOCUS skills that enable you to meet the business challenges you face every day. After completing a series of courses in a specific area of study, you will be an authorized Practitioner based on your investment in classroom training; no testing is required.

Certification Program

Leverage the knowledge you gained in the Practitioner Program to achieve WebFOCUS Certification. Participants are certified after completing a series of tests targeted to their specific area of interest.

Who Should Participate?

The WebFOCUS Practitioner and Certification programs are designed for any developer involved in creating WebFOCUS applications:

- Application developers
- Network administrators
- Systems analysts/programmers
- Database administrators
- Business analysts and power users

Enrollment offers a variety of advantages. Participants will:

- Benefit from the most up-to-date knowledge
- Realize cost savings on future training
- Facilitate quick deployment of Web applications
- Maximize the return on investment of WebFOCUS
- Enhance business opportunities by investing in employee growth

“Whether you are taking our courses as part of the Practitioner or Certification programs,” says Kristin Devlin, executive director, Customer Education, “you will benefit from the instruction of our experienced staff of education specialists.”
